Shapiro Says GOP is Using 'Hate' Tactics in Campaign

More than 800 persons crowded the Venice-Madison Legion hall at 704 Broadway in Venice Thursday night to attend one of the biggest Democratic rallies of the current campaign — highlighted by addresses by Lt. Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro and State Auditor Michael J. Howlett. Campaign talks by and in behalf of district and county candidates also marked the program.

Appearance of Shapiro and Howlett at the Venice rally followed similar visits earlier in the day at Alton during the afternoon and Edwardsville at a 6 p.m. rally in the American Legion Park. Shapiro and Howlett also addressed a large crowd at the Edwardsville meeting. The Alton meeting was a luncheon session at Hotel Stratford.

The Venice meeting got underway at 8 p.m. Lt. Gov. Shapiro, candidate for re-election, attacked what he termed the "hate mongering" campaign of Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential candidate, and accused Goldwater supporters of "distributing hate books by the millions." He said he had seen many political campaigns, but none in which "hate" had been emphasized as a means of attack as it has by the Republicans in the current campaign.

Defame President — He charged that precinct workers are being used to circulate paperback books defaming the character of President Johnson as a "last-ditch" stand by a candidate who knows he is defeated.

"One of the worst specimens, written in Texas, is a study in unpolished paranoia according to the Dallas Times Herald," Shapiro continued. "It is a personal attack on the President by a frustrated politician who ran for governor of Texas and was unable to bring in 10% of the vote."

"Another of the books is an attack on the foreign policy of all our presidents since World War II, including Eisenhower who is pictured as a dupe of Khrushchev. Mr. Goldwater's followers are trying to build him up by tearing down the only Republican elected president in 30 years."

Howlett spoke briefly prior to Shapiro's introduction by Mayor Stephen Maeros of Madison. Other speakers included George J. Moran, candidate for appellate judge who also spoke in behalf of the other two Democratic judge candidates, Joseph H.

Kerner's Economy Boasts Not True, Rep. Smith Says

The Kerner administration is trying to persuade the people of Illinois that it has maintained an economical operation of state government, but nothing could be farther from the truth, State Rep. Ralph T. Smith of Alton, a former Granite City man and one of the 118 Republican candidates for the state legislature, said today.

"What Gov. Kerner took office, the total biennial budget for the state was $2,865,000,000," Smith said. "The current Kerner budget is $3,922,000,000 (without capital improvement appropriations), which represents an increase in state spending of 38% in the four Kerner years — a growth rate of almost 10% a year. Such a spending explosion makes government far and away the largest growing business in Illinois."

Smith also said that during Kerner's four years in office that state payrolls have jumped from 20,307 persons to 73,352 — an increase of 14,045, or over 23%.

"Furthermore," Rep. Smith said, "the voters in 1960 authorized the expenditure of $45 million for capital improvements in Illinois universities and mental health institutions, yet a relatively small amount of this money has actually been spent by the Kerner administration."

"The Democrats have dragged their feet in completing the capital improvements authorized by the people of Illinois in these two fields, largely because of indecision and poor management."

"Finally, the Democrats indicated the device of payment on the 'installment plan' for the first time in Illinois history. The Democrat policy of 'buy now—pay later,' or deficit financing, was made part of Kerner's fiscal policy."

"Senate Bill 1177 was reported out of committee on June 18, 1962 — just ten days before the General Assembly was dismissed by the governor. The bill authorized the expenditure of $50 million for capital improvements in Illinois during this two-year period."

"It is the Democrat plan to pay for this sum over a period of 20 years out of proceeds of revenue bonds by the state of Illinois. It is a device to pass on to future generations the cost of today's needs, and should be condemned as a fiscal policy by all the voters of this state," Smith said.

Preliminary Hearing Set Today for Bennett

A preliminary hearing was scheduled for today for Wilfred C. Bennett, 29, of 2800 (rear) Idaho avenue, charged with the murder of St. Louis taxidermist last month.

Bennett, who has been held by St. Louis police after he refused to waive extradition, was taken into custody last week by Madison county sheriff's deputy in a St. Louis warrant.

An extradition hearing had been set for Friday but his attorney failed to file the necessary papers in St. Louis. Bennett was due to be bound over to the Madison county grand jury on the murder charge.

He was arrested in St. Louis after Frank Lafata, 38, was found shot to death on Sept. 16 in a field off West Pontion road. Bennett refused to waive his preliminary hearing after being advised of his attorney.

Autumn Weddings Highlight Social Activities in the Quad-Cities over the Weekend

Miss Teresa Bauer Becomes Bride of John M. Krause

St. Mark's Catholic Church, Venice, was the scene of the wedding Saturday morning of Miss Teresa Bauer, a daughter of Mrs. Anton Bauer Jr., 1272 Klein street, Venice, and John Martin Krause, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krause, 519 East Church street, Collinsville.

The eleven o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. C. McCarthy before an altar flanked with white mums, snapdragon and gladioli.

The bride wore a gown of pure white silk peau de soie fashioned with yellow length sleeves and a detachable full court train. The sheath-styled gown, traced with Alencon lace from the scooped neck to the hem, was lavishly embroidered with pearls and iridescent. A pill box crown with matching lace and pearls held in place the bride's three-tiered silk illusion veil, and her flowers were a cascade of french-china mums and ivy arranged in a graceful arch.

Miss Elizabeth Bauer, a sister of the bride was maid of honor with Miss Carol McKinney as bridesmaid. Both were dressed alike in antique gold crepe satin sheath gowns sculptured in an empire silhouette with bell sleeves. Their matching headpieces of crepe in the same gold shade were wide bows with attached veiling extending over the crown and they carried colonial bouquets of small mums in various shades of autumn gold and bronze.

Possessive Warriors Slap Down Oilers 19-7

GCBS Ball-Control Tactics Work; Turner, Johnson, Winfield Score

— Possession, they say, is nine-tenths of the law. It's a big plus in the world of football, too.

Granite City's Warriors effectively employed ball-control tactics Friday to spoil East Alton-Wood River high school's homecoming with a 19-7 victory over the Oilers. It was the fourth victory against one loss for GCBS, now 2-1 in the Southwest Conference.

After a slow start in the first quarter, the Fighting Warriors dominated the game with a solid running attack that accounted for all of their 241 yards gained.

Meanwhile, the defensive unit held Wood River to a mere 36 yards rushing and allowed passing completions for 49 yards. The strategy was to keep the Oilers on defense and the ball away from the talented Grimsley.

That end was accomplished, and coach Jim Morrison said the Warriors showed their best overall effort of the season in the victory.

Oilers Strike First
Grimsley showed his worth in the opening period. After returning a punt 13 yards to the Granite City 43-yard-line, he engineered a scoring drive that gave the Oilers a 7-0 lead with 14 seconds left in the quarter.

The big plays were a pair of seven-yard passes from Grimsley to Chuck Colcausse, certainly one of the conference's outstanding ends, and halfback Bob Hagaman.

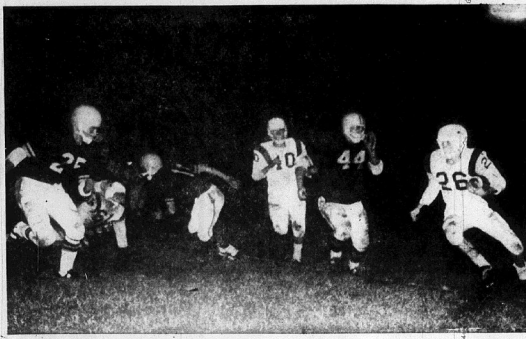

It was in this series of plays that Grimsley proved he was the dangerous scramble he was hailed to be. "I was kind of a smart aleck," said Morrison later. "I said 'Let's see how he knows from flat on his back.' The answer was he knows very well from flat on his back."

Grimsley finished the drive by crossing the goal untouched on a 15-yard roll-out to the right side. The Warriors took the ensuing kickoff and in the first play of the second quarter, fullback Tom Cavanaugh found wide receiver John Smith on a back trap and dashed 33 yards to the Wood River 37 before Grimsley caught him from behind.

He picked up 10 more on the next play and GCBS was on the field.

PRESS-RECORD SPORTS

RICKY TURNER TURNS the corner as he starts on a third-quarter run at Wood River that netted Granite City seven yards and placed the ball at the Oilers' 48-yard-line. Play was part of drive that eventually spluttered due to penalties. Following Turner (26) are Warrior quarterback Doug Winfield (10) and Wood River's Tom Minor (44). At left, the Oilers' Jim Dvorach moves up to make tackle while in background teammate Mike Grimsley spins around after being blocked by Ernie Kern (on ground).

Eagles 'Waltz' Over Trojans 20-7

Ronnie Waltz, connected to old Vienna by implication of name only, knows how to do some fancy Big Bear stepping of the modern school—football style.

The 165-pound junior halfback scored all three touchdowns Friday night for Civic Memorial of Bethalto as the Eagles surprised the visiting Madison Trojans 20-7 in a Midwest Conference high school game.

The Eagles, unable to score in four losses this season, broke out of the slump with a smash. No two-yard plunges for them—all of the TDs were on long-gains.

After a scoreless first quarter, Waltz took a pitchout from quarterback Mary Bristow and went around the right end for 65 yards and a TD in the second quarter.

CM Fired Up
"They scored first and that really fired me up," said Madison coach Glen Pickering. "And that was all she wrote."

The next two Bethalto scores were on identical plays. In the third quarter, Bristow hit Waltz with a flat pass on the right side and he went 39 yards to score. In the fourth period, they duplicated that play for a 35-yard tally.

The Trojans' only score came on a 55-yard drive as the final minutes of the game ticked off. Paul Lusk, who drew Pickering's praise for a job well done, both offensively and defensively, scored from the five-yard-line.

Held to 137 yards, including just 65 on the ground, the Trojans' longest gain of the evening was a 14-yard pass from Steve Geroff to George Davis in the second quarter.

Had Chance
"We had chances to score," said Pickering. "We were inside the 15 four times in the first half and couldn't go over. They tightened up and we relaxed, thinking we were score."

Geroff completed all five Madison passes, good for 72 yards. He made 15 attempts and two aerials were intercepted. Bethalto gained 138 yards rushing and 98 in the air.

Both the Eagles and Trojans have 1-4 overall records and are 1-2 in Midwest play. Cahokia remains as the only undefeated team after smothering chief challenger Highland 33-14.

The Trojans are home to Roseville at 8:30 p.m. Thursday. The game will be played Thursday night instead of Friday due to a county teachers' meeting Friday.

It's Dal Maxvill Week as City Honors Cardinals' Hero

About 600 persons, many of them children, cheered Saturday as Granite City honored native son Dal Maxvill of the St. Louis Cardinals in noon ceremonies at city hall.

Maxvill—Charles Dallan is the given name—was thrust into baseball prominence on Oct. 4, just 15 days ago, when he was a last-minute replacement at second base in the Red Birds' lineup and played a key role in that day's pennant-winning victory over New York's Amazing Mets. From there, as almost everyone knows, it was on to the World Series and the world's championship.

Carl Mathias, president-elect of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce, conducted the 45-minute festivities under sunny skies and warm temperatures. While youngsters squeezed closer to get a closer view of the local hero, Mathias called the former Granite City High School "our No. 1 citizen."

Beneath a big banner proclaiming "Dal Maxvill, Granite City is proud of you," Mayor Leonard Davis presented the key to the city to Maxvill and a bouquet of roses to his wife Diana, "the inspiration behind the man." Other members of his family were seated as honored guests on the city hall steps.

Maxvill made a brief speech thanking the community for praise and support throughout his baseball career, gave away two dozen autographed baseballs to youngsters in the crowd, posed for a family photograph and signed autographs.

Mayor Davis proclaimed this week as "Dal Maxvill Week" and announced that the city plans a "Dal Maxvill Night" next season at Busch Stadium. Saturday's event was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Associated Retailers and the Granite City park district, as well as the city.

It was a fitting climax to his participation in two weeks that made baseball history.

tion since his playing days, was much admired and respected by the players. "All he ever asked was that you give 100% out there on the field. No matter if you had a bad day or a good day—if you gave 100%, he was satisfied."

Maxvill said he was certain Keane would get many other major league offers. As to the effect of the resignation on his own future with the Cardinals, he said: "You just have to accept something like this—it's part of the business. No one really knows what this will do. You just have to go down to spring training and, no matter who you're working for, do the best you can."

Has St. Louis Job

With the World Series now history, Maxvill will continue to reside in Granite City and during the off-season will be employed by the Bussman Manufacturing Co. of St. Louis, makers of Buss fuses. He graduated in electrical engineering at Washington University where he enrolled after graduating from Granite City High school. He'll work at the job until spring training starts in late February.

Maxvill agreed that playing in the seven Series games looms as the biggest break of his baseball career. "Whenever you get to play regularly a lot of people get to see you," he said. "I just hope this improves my chances of staying with the club next season or, at least, in the major leagues."

Bob Burnes, a respected St. Louis sports editor who helped convince Maxvill to stay in baseball after his demotion to the minor leagues in May, had this comment about Maxvill: "You remember the words of Johnny Keane. 'The one thing I like most of all about Maxvill, he said, 'is that when you need him, he's ready. He never lets himself get to seed on the bench.'"

His bat helped Thursday as it did other days. His fielding was flawless. Unless a deal is made, Julian Javier will have to battle for his job in the spring."

Not to strike a sour note in the sweet aftermath of victory, but the very character of big league baseball—the possibility of the Red Birds trading Maxvill to another club. Perhaps some major league team, needing infield help, will bid for the Granite Cityan after noting his steady play in the game's biggest pressure event.

This, of course, will depend largely on the new St. Louis manager and new general manager Bob Howsam, who replaced Devine. If a trade is considered, they might decide that Javier is more expendable.

The 28-year-old Javier, of course, has proven a capable performer in five seasons as a regular—hitting in the 260-280 area, fielding well with a very wide range of coverage and running the base paths with good speed. Maxvill, used sparingly in utility roles by the Cards, hasn't had the opportunity to prove himself over the long stretch of a 162-game season.

Maxvill is younger (25) than Javier and is an excellent fielder (shortstop is his natural position) but is slight (he's listed at 5-foot-11 and 160 pounds) and packs less batting punch than the Dominican Republic slug.

In the Series, Maxvill had four hits including a double in 20 tries. He did not score but batted in an important run in the final game; he struck out four times and walked once. His fielding was perfect—no errors while handling 13 putouts and 15 assists.

The Granite Cityan pulled off several nice plays and one of the best came on a double play pivot in the Cards' 7-5 triumph in the final game. With no score in the third inning and the Yankees' Phil Lutz on first base, Bobby Richardson hit a bounding ball to shortstop Dick Groat. Groat threw perfectly to Maxvill, who fired hard over the sliding Lutz to catch Richardson by a half-step at first base. The combination of the slow bouncer and the fleet Lutz, who knocked down the second sacker as he came in, didn't allow Maxvill to negotiate a normal pivot but the throw still had plenty of mustard.

Another play which didn't draw a mention in press stories, came in the second. With two outs and Elston Howard on first base, Tommy Tresh singled to left-center. After bobbing the ball momentarily, outfielder Lou Brock fired off a high throw to second base but Maxvill leaped high to knock it down, keeping Howard at second.

As it developed, Groat then booted Clete Boyer's grounder which—had Howard been able to advance to third base—would have broken the scoreless tie. But the error merely loaded the bases and pitching hero Bob Gibson got opposing pitcher Mel Stottlemyre on strikes to end the threat. In the eighth inning, Maxvill went far out into centerfield for Joe Judge's high pop-up.

Involved In "Double Steal"

His hit, a line-drive single to right, came in the Cards' three-run fourth and drove home Mike Shannon. Just prior to the safety, however, he was involved in the celebrated "double steal" which, Keane revealed later, was actually supposed to be a hit-and-run. Maxvill was at bat and missed the pitch but Shannon took off for second base and was safe; meanwhile, Tim McCarver broke for the plate and slid under Richardson's return throw to Howard to give the Cards a 2-0 lead.

In the eighth inning, he put down a perfect sacrifice bunt to advance McCarver and Shannon to second and third. But McCarver was caught in a rundown between third and home and was tagged. Then Curt Flood filed out to end the inning with no runs scoring.

Maxvill had the honor of ending the Series by catching Richardson's pop fly. He held onto the historic baseball and, unable to reach Gibson in the wild post-game melee, presented it to the deserving pitcher in the clubhouse.

What happened on that last out, the out that touched off a celebration such as St. Louis had never before seen? "I thought 'Don't drop this one or you'll be wearing goat horns all year.'" And, "While it was coming down, Groat yelled 'Don't get hit on the coconuts!' or something like that. Then I just headed toward the mound because that's where everyone else was going."

That joyous run to the Busch Stadium mound was a long way from 1960 when the youngster was signed for $1000 by then-general manager Devine. He wasn't signed, he revealed, as a prospect at all—merely as a temporary fill-in for a sore-armed Winnipeg shortstop.

Then, two years later, after stops at Charleston and Tulsa, he was called up by the parent club. He was used as a utility man for part of 1962 and 1963 but, early this season, he was sent down to Jacksonville and later assigned to Indianapolis. He very nearly quit baseball for a career in electrical engineering.

But Maxvill stayed with it, as recalled in late July and got in Series chances when Javier suffered a badly bruised hip. He delivered two key hits that helped clinch the pennant against the New York Mets. Then came the Series and Maxvill, the savior, became a regular.

As one well-wisher in the clubhouse put it: "It's like coming to the wedding as the bridesmaid and turning out to be the bride, isn't it Dal?"

"I think it's worse," laughed the world champion.

Comments on Resignation

Commenting on the resignation of field manager Johnny Keane, Maxvill told the Press-Record: "I really wasn't too surprised that it worked out that way after all the talk about (Leo) Durocher. I'm sure John felt bad about that."

There had been stories that when the Cards were going badly that owner August A. Busch had decided to hire Durocher as pilot for 1965. But that plan, if indeed the suppositions were true, backfired on Busch when Keane won the pennant and world championship.

Maxvill also expects that the firing of general manager Bing Devine had an effect: "John admired and respected him more than anyone in baseball—I've heard him say it many times. I'm sure he felt that the firing was premature and should have been held off until after the season, at least. Of course there are many things which may have entered into it and it's hard to say just what was going on in John's mind as to why."

He said Keane, who had been in the Cardinals' organization since his playing days, was much admired and respected by the players. "All he ever asked was that you give 100% out there on the field. No matter if you had a bad day or a good day—if you gave 100%, he was satisfied."

Prather Tops Webster 28-7 For First Win

After three unsuccessful starts, the Prather Chiefs broke into the win column Thursday night by defeating Collinsville Webster 28-7 in junior high school football at the GCHS.

Coach Carroll Sanders' team had lost the first three contests by two touchdowns or more and the latest two were by shutouts. Webster entered the game with a 2-9 record.

Quarterback Roger Belsho fired a pass to left end Barry Lloyd in the second quarter for a 40-yard play to get the Prather scoring underway. A successful extra-point kick was nullified by a five-yard penalty but Rico Timmons then ran the point on a sweep play.

With 20 seconds remaining in the first half, the Chiefs gained two points when a Webster snap from center on a punt situation sailed out of the end zone for a safety. The halftime score was 9-0.

In the third quarter, Belsho "sneaked" through the middle for 40 yards and a touchdown, and then kicked the extra point. Webster tightened the count to 16-7 by scoring in the fourth period.

But the Chiefs' Chuck Fenoglio, a halfback, broke loose on an off-tackle play and sprinted 45 yards to score. The point-making ended with a Belsho-Dave Anderson pass that netted 25 yards and six points.

Sanders called it a "team victory." "The boys really had the winning spirit this time," he said. "They hit out good and both offense and defense played very well."

Enemy end sweeps, which had hurt the Chiefs in earlier games, were stopped this time. Prather plays winless Roxana there Thursday afternoon.

WATER for BETTER LIVING

Public fire protection wasn't always as good as it is today. What we now take for granted was many years in the making. The knowledge and inventiveness of water system engineers. The skills and experience of the equipment makers. The first-hand know-how of the fire fighters. It took all these, and more, to develop the high standards of fire protection we have come to expect. An important milestone along the way was the perfection of the high-pressure public water supply system. This is the type of system that serves our community well and provides the best possible protection against the awful menace of serious fire.

GC School Bonds To be Signed Next Week in Chicago

Five representatives of the Granite City school district are scheduled to go to Chicago next Monday, Oct. 26, to complete arrangements for the bond issue approved by voters in May.

Those who will make the airplane journey are Supt. Russell D. Johnson, Board President Daniel Linder, Board Secretary Ronald Dillard, School Treasurer L. Monroe Worthen and School Attorney Maurice Daley. Bonds of $1000 denomination and numbered 1 to 2390 are to be signed.

Instead of bringing a check for the $2,400,000 total for the return trip, Worthen may arrange for a bank transfer making it unnecessary to risk physically carrying the large sum, even in check form.

A surety bond covering the total has been obtained from the Gitchell Insurance Agency. The board last week designated the Trust & Savings Bank here as the depository. Funds are expected to be invested at interest during the interval before construction work requires them to be disbursed.

In other school business, Mrs. Barbara Adams, Rural Route One, has been hired for the administrative office clerical staff beginning today.

Staff Changes
Resignations have been accepted from Mrs. Sharon Williams Matthews, GCIS physical education teacher, effective Dec. 22, and Miss Marjorie Smith, Mill-stadt, Maryville third grade instructor, who is to marry and move to Ohio, effective Jan. 22.

Yearly travel pay of Administrative Assistant Earl Lee has been boosted from $475 to $600.

A contract for continued use of Central Christian Church facilities for classrooms has been approved. Monthly rental for three rooms will be $75 a room, plus five-sevenths of utility bills.

Purchases based on bids include: 12 entrance mats, City Janitor Supply, St. Louis, $110 total; fleet insurance for one year, Herman Mueller, $875; anti-glare treatment for Maryville school multi-purpose room windows, Sun-X Glass, Tin. 22.

Cub Scouts of Den Four, Pack 19, held their regular meeting Wednesday evening at the home of the den mother, Mrs. Vivian Candiff, 2709 Cayuga street.

The Cubs opened with the pledge to the flag, a den yell, and the Cub Scout promise. Wall plaques were made out of paper plates, and several games were played.

Over 435 Youngsters Already Registered for Park's Square Dancing

More than 435 young square dancers registered last week in the initial five sessions of the Granite City park district's seventh annual square dance program, Harold Brown, park superintendent, said today.

Additional youngsters are expected to join in the program through this month, Brown said, as registrations will be accepted until Oct. 31.

The 18-week square dance program for pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades is being conducted this year in five locations with each session scheduled from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Qualified instructors are provided for all sessions, Brown said, with the program under the general supervision of Mrs. Helen Bjorkman assisted by Lewis Wright, Mike Speers and Miss Carolyn Bertoni.

No charge is made, Brown said, but each child is required to pay 75 cents for insurance coverage. Those children who

Venice Ordinance Limits Parking On Seventh Street

An ordinance establish one-hour parking along the west side of Seventh street in Venice, between Broadway and Washington, was adopted by the Venice city council in a regular meeting Thursday night.

The parking regulation is to be effective between Sept. 1 and May 30 of each year, corresponding with the school term. The new regulation establishes a penalty of $3 to $25 for each violation and provides that the city street superintendent will post signs. The one-hour limit is to be effective daily, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Regular session of the city council had been scheduled for Friday but was advanced to Thursday night.

Bridge Painting Funds A resolution authorizing transfer of budget balances from certain McKinley Bridge administration operating funds to the bridge painting fund also was authorized. Funds transferred were those remaining as balances at the end of the fiscal year on Sept. 30.

Henry McMullen, bridge manager, told the council the amount transferred would approximate $10,000 and would bring to about $70,000 the total now in the bridge painting fund. A major bridge painting program is forecast among bridge improvements recommended by engineers.

Mayor John E. Lee discussed with council members and Street Supt. Jay Maurer a proposal to take action soon, probably at the next council meeting Nov. 6, on purchase of a street sweeper. Specifications on one model have been received by Mayor Lee and were turned over to Maurer, but the mayor said he preferred comparative prices with one or more additional types.

Mayor Lee asked City Attorney Hartman to prepare a resolution requesting Illinois Power Co. to install at least two vapor street lights on each side of the railroad tracks near the recently reopened State street cutoff and such additional lights as might be considered necessary on the cutoff approach to Broadway.

A building permit for construction of a garage was authorized by the council for John Boughard, 433 Lincoln avenue. Estimated cost of the building is $100.

Police Chief Frank DeWitt reported 56 arrests during September. Thirty-seven of the cases went to court, while others were disposed of in various ways, DeWitt said.

Among the cases were five prisoners released to immigration officials, two released to probation officers, two who worked out fines on the street department, one sentenced to six months on the state prison farm at Vandalia. Others were dismissed or released to juvenile officers, or charges were withdrawn.

DeWitt's report said the city received $880 as its share of fines assessed in circuit court cases, and that a check for $1169 also was received from the state, representing fines assessed in cases in which truck drivers were arrested for driving overweight trucks in the city.

News From The Files Of The GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

OCTOBER 20, 1914
Conventions by two denominations held at large congregations, were held in Granite City Sunday. The German Methodist church was the meeting place for the convention of the Epworth Leagues of the German churches of Edwinstown, Mt. Olive, Alton, Brighton, Fosterberg, Bunker Hill and Granite City.

The convention convened with about 150 delegates and members present, and each session was attended by large crowds. On Sunday afternoon, Sunday school teachers of the Epworth district of the Evangelical church held their 13th annual meeting at St. Peter's Evangelical church. About 175 teachers and 1750 children were present. Approximately 188 persons were served at a luncheon.

Bloodhounds, which were placed on the trail of robbers who broke into the hardware store of A. J. Kahle and Son, Delmar and Niedringhaus avenues, sometime Sunday night, took up a scent at a revolver case in the store which had been ransacked.

They followed a trail through Madison to a saloon. Here the dogs remained, refusing to leave elsewhere. After trailing around the streets in Granite City and through several alleys and yards, the dogs had finally stopped at the saloon.

It was decided to search the place, and an effort was made to secure a warrant in Madison. Several attempts to locate one, however, failed, and the dogs in charge of the hounds were forced to abandon their efforts. The saloon in question is the

For The Business District—A Block Of Scenic Beauty

As was pointed out at a discussion of the former downtown post office last week, it is nearly the same as that of a circular park intended as the symbolic heart of Granite City. It was planned to have streets projecting outward from it as spokes from a wheel hub. The plan later was amended, however, to have a diagonal street, W. A. Roderberg of East St. Louis, one of the greatest traitors and campaign speakers in the country, will address the crowd.

The Ladies' Coteries will meet with Mrs. W. J. Biel at her home, 2218a Edwinstown, Thursday. J. W. Costley and Fred J. Jorden returned home Friday. Jorden returned from a trip to the state capital, where he defended a state session of the Masonic Lodge. Costley represented several alleys and yards, the dogs had finally stopped at the saloon.

A new type of school desk is being introduced. Both the desk and the chair are made of a single pedestal and both are adjustable for height.

Equipment of more police departments in the state will be discussed today. Andrew Lion of Granite City was installed as Junior Councilor of the Seventh District of the Illinois Grand Chapter. The ceremony of DeMolay chapter ceremony held Monday night in Alton before a gathering of 200 DeMolays. DeMolay chapters attended from here included Richard Holshouser, George Slattery, Kenneth McClatchey, John Bowler, Ralph Chapman, Frank Heller and Lester Doolittle. They were accompanied by Mrs. M. J. Starns.

Not many boys no older than five weeks have motored to Chicago and back, but Edward Koch did. His parents motored to Chicago last weekend to take Mrs. Bruno Brenkenmeyer, who will remain in the Wintry City for a short stay.

NAMEKOTI TOWNSHIP PROCEEDINGS QUESTIONED

To the Editor:
About two months ago, Namekoti township officials passed an ordinance and published it in the Press-Record. This dealt with, among other things, cesspools and their maintenance. For a number of years, one cesspool has been pumped into the street. The ordinance was to stop this and other such things. We also have packs of dogs let loose by their owners, that kill other people's pets in their own yards and ruin their plants and property. I am told that they have a dog-catcher who is paid $80 per year to catch dogs. This is a job and precinct committee man, he does not have the time to take care of dog catching. So he has an unlimited telephone number and has others bury dead dogs if he needs them.

Following these situations, EAST MADISON RESIDENT
PROTEST DEFENDS ON INFORMED VOTING
To the Editor:
Following the public will be called upon to exercise its rights as free citizens of a great state.

What we do on that day will determine our destiny in the future as to whether or not we will be able to continue to grow and prosper, or hinder the tremendous progress that has been made through blood, sweat and tears. Following are reasons why we should vote.

1. The main threat of a backslide or defeat in progress started is political prejudice or bias. We must call party tradition. Unfortunately, party has in the past history misled the voters in a big part in the political world. I ask people now, as we stand on a threshold of world peace and civil rights, would you let this freedom, by going to

$125 Million Assets In Local Financial Institutions

It is only one indicator of the economic health of a community, but latest quarterly statements show that assets of the four Quad-City banks have risen to a combined total of $89,234,875, substantially more than several years ago. Savings banks in this area have assets exceeding $26 million, and credit unions in the Quad-Cities have investments which have now passed the $10 million mark. The aggregate of more than $125 million, even with inflation taken into account, makes it obvious that the economic base of this community has grown considerably in comparison with past decades.

An optimist is a bridegroom who thinks he has no bad habits.

A Week That Was

Each fall, when organization meeting schedules have been resumed and a number of special projects and proposals also come up for discussion, it seems that all the meetings inexplicably coincide in the same week.

Such a time was reached last week, when those associated with multiple groups and activities suddenly found themselves attempting to be in several places at the same time on several afternoons and evenings. Busy periods will occur again but, for 1964, "that was the week that was."

Granite Cityman Well Established By Series As A Baseball 'Big Leaguer'

He may appear frail, but Dal Maxwell of Granite City proved to be a giant among the St. Louis Cardinals as they won the world series of baseball, outlasting or matching five of the other regular players, batting in a decisive run in the championship game, fielding flawlessly and executing brilliant double plays despite being knocked off his feet by the slides of bigger athletes.

The intense pressure on all is illustrated by the 13 errors, three by other Cardinal infielders and nine by the vaunted Yankees — two each by New York fielding titans George M. Steinbrenner, Richardson, Linz and Boyer. Maxwell handled 13 putouts and 15 assists while tying seven St. Louis and New York players for top fielding honors.

High praise included Manager Keane's comment that when you need him, he's ready. "I'm playing condition despite not playing regularly during the season. And it was noted that his performance always had improved as he moved up each step of the baseball ladder."

Everyone now seems convinced that if given an opportunity to start each game, he has the skill and determination to become full-time what the series already has made him — a major league star. A year-around engineering job he has been promised may have to be postponed for quite a while.

Thanks to television, old movies never die — no matter how long ago they were shot.

Alert Poll Watchers Protect Democracy

Politically motivated though they may be, we urge support of both Republican and Democratic programs designed to assure the integrity of the polls.

Honest voting and counting are essential if this country is to remain a democracy. It is how laborious it is to observe polling place practices, it is well worth the trouble — on Nov. 3 or any other election day.

Give Attention When Child Behaves

Additional hints from YMCA Community Child Guidance Center:

Don't talk in moments of conflict. Give attention and recognition when children behave well. Don't give attention when they are misbehaving. When they misbehave, because at these times attention becomes a reward. Establish the ability to resist temptation. The less attention the child gets when he misbehaves, the more he will be able to resist temptation. You may feel that anger helps you get rid of your own tensions, but it is also teaching the child that you think he should learn.

DON'T INTERFERE IN CHILDREN'S FIGHTS — Let children resolve their own conflicts. They learn to get along better together. Many fights are provoked to get the adult involved; by separating the children or acting as judge we fail for their provocation, thereby stimulating them to fight more.

TEACHING CHILDREN TO RESOLVE THEIR OWN CONFLICTS — Teach children to resolve their own conflicts. They learn to get along better together. Many fights are provoked to get the adult involved; by separating the children or acting as judge we fail for their provocation, thereby stimulating them to fight more.

GOAL Every action of a child has a purpose. His basic aim is to please his group. For example, a young child who has well-adjusted child has found his way toward social acceptance by conforming with the requirements of the group and by making his own useful contribution to it.

The misbehaving child is still trying, in a mistaken way, to feel important in his own world. For example, a young child who has never been allowed to dress himself (because "mother is in a hurry") who has not been allowed to help (because "you're not big enough to set the table"), will lack the feeling of being a useful contributor to the family, and will only feel important by getting into mischief and annoyed with his misbehavior.

THE PASTOR SPEAKS

REV. ROSS SMITH
25th and Dewey Pentecostal Church
There are many people today, living in a complacent attitude. Hundreds of people who live near churches never attend. They have no thought of changing their way of living or no thought of what it may mean to them to appear before God in the judgment.

These people will sit for hours and look at the television sets, watching their favorite program. Others spend their time on the river or fast boat riding. Always, time and money for pleasure, but just can't find time to go to church or Sunday school.

Then should there be any wonder at the condition of the world in which we live? We could go on and on about the world, but what about the church? It, too, is being affected by complacency.

Too many of our people don't seem to realize how much they hurt their churches by their attitude at home or going elsewhere on regular church nights. I am speaking as a pastor, and in my heart, with a burden for God's people and for a real move of God in the churches.

In Hebrews 10:23-25, Phillip's translation reads: "And let us not shirk our duty, but let us assemble together as some do. Let us do it to help one another's faith, and this we do earnestly, as we see the first day drawing near."

Jesus said, in Matt. 24:12: "And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold." We like to think of someone else when we read that; but, saints of God, if you find your hearts excuse for not attending church regularly, you are more interested in things of this life than you are in the cause of Christ, then your love for God is waxing cold.

We are living in the closing days of the church age, and the time for the manifestation of the man of sin, the great tribulation, is drawing near. Christ. "But the end of all things is at hand; he ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer." 1 Peter 4:7.

Unless we sober up from the cause of this life and take our equal share of responsibility in our local church by making it a point to be there at every service, we are going to wake up too late. Our churches will be closed.

We cannot be saved because of good works. Salvation is the gift of God. "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God." Eph. 2:8.

For yourself what regular, earnest prayer will do for you and your family. Pray for us on your heart and in our life until we will become a better witness for Him.

GC Civil Defense Needs 118 Radiological Monitors

The need to train at least 188 radiological monitors to man 118 radiation detection stations in Granite City is being stressed by Civil Defense Director Victor H. Koenig.

The program is to be geared to provide a nationwide network of radiological stations capable of furnishing data to federal clearing centers in the event of nuclear war. Training of men and women as monitors is slated to begin early next year. Anyone interested may contact Koenig.

Koenig said emergency stocks for five public fallout shelters are being delivered shortly with the initial shipments to the city to the Fishman Men's store, 19th and Delmar avenues and to the city hall. The supplies are presently housed at the Granite City Army Depot.

Supr. Schools Russell D. Johnson has reported that shelter areas in three school buildings prepared to receive supplies are Central Junior and Senior High and the senior high school. All five locations are off-grounds.

The misbehaving child is still trying, in a mistaken way, to feel important in his own world. For example, a young child who has never been allowed to dress himself (because "mother is in a hurry") who has not been allowed to help (because "you're not big enough to set the table"), will lack the feeling of being a useful contributor to the family, and will only feel important by getting into mischief and annoyed with his misbehavior.

GOAL 1: Attention-getting — he wants to be heard.
GOAL 2: Power — he wants to be the boss.
GOAL 3: Revenge — he wants to get back at someone.

GOAL 4: Display of inadequacy — he wants to be left alone, and he is being rebuffed by the federal government.

County Lawyers Rate Judges In Third Judicial Circuit

Results of a poll of county lawyers to grade judges and associate judges of the third judicial circuit of Madison and Bond counties was distributed Thursday night at a Madison County Bar Association meeting at the Edwardsville Gun Club and showed almost unanimous ratings for two of the three circuit judges running unopposed for re-election.

The lawyers, after a heated discussion, decided to release the poll results, pointing out it was merely a manner of grading and not to be interpreted as endorsements.

The vote was almost unanimous for Judges Joseph J. Barr (D) of Wood River and Harold R. Clark (R) of Alton, who received the "unsatisfactory" vote, while Judge James O. Monroe (D) of Collinsville received a grade of 14 "satisfactory."

Barr and Clark received grades of 80 while Monroe's was 78.

On over-all grades of excellent, good, average, poor and unsatisfactory, the bar did not endorse any of the three judges by resolution. The figures were released without giving the ratings, without calling judges "qualified" or "unqualified" and without comment.

Of the 150 lawyers in the county, 50 or more did not vote in the poll.

An obituary notice is listed elsewhere in this issue.

Parents present were Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hooper, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Richter, Mrs. Kate Jones, Mrs. Ruth Fanning, Mrs. Joyce Wilson, Mrs. Daisy Burdett, Mrs. Jack Frazier, Mrs. Barbara Bister, Mrs. Bernice Gorka, Mrs. Vicki Skundrick, Mrs. Avis Koss, Mrs. Betty Elliott and Mrs. Bernadine Weidner. Next pack meeting will be held Nov. 20.
